

he has a point about morse code stopping handicapped people from getting higher classes of licenses but that doesnt call for the deletion of element 1 altogether, it is a way of solving the problem but its not the right one.